

Shhh...

The condition that nobody talks about.

URINARY INCONTINENCE

For an estimated 10 million Americans (85% of whom are women), incontinence of urine is socially embarrassing, physically limiting, or a significant disability. Women are frequently embarrassed and hesitant to admit their problem to their family, friends, or even to their personal physician.

Successful treatment is a patient-physician team mission, and is an achievable goal. Dr. Howard Sohnen and Dr. David Kay provide minimally invasive, effective treatment for Stress Urinary Incontinence (SUI).

Our minimally invasive surgical approach to SUI is an outpatient procedure and most patients experience immediate results. Research shows that on average women with SUI will endure the discomfort for 6-9 years before consulting a physician. Don't be one of these women.

Treat yourself to immediate relief from Urinary Stress Incontinence. Call today to schedule your appointment with Dr. Howard Sohnen, or Dr. David Kay. You will be glad that you did!
